Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Statement

Introduction

Middle Barton School is committed to supporting and promoting equality, diversity and inclusion. We value and respect the different contributions that each of our staff, students, and stakeholders bring. We strive to create an inclusive culture that treats people equitably regardless of their age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, and sexual orientation.

We have an essential role in improving people's life chances in the communities we serve to tackle inequality and build a more diverse and inclusive organisation.

We welcome and celebrate diversity acknowledging that not everybody starts with or experiences the same opportunities.

This statement should be read alongside the Middle Barton Equality Statement, Accessibility Statement and Dignity at Work Policy.

Principles

Principles We follow the National Curriculum Inclusion principles:

- Set suitable learning challenges
- Respond to pupils' diverse needs
- Overcome potential barriers to learning and assessment for individuals and groups of pupils

The principles of the River Learning Trust are:

- Commitment to Excellence; striving for the best educational experience through continuous improvement
- Everyone Learning; creating and taking opportunities that enhance lives through evidence based practice supporting adult and pupil learning
- Respectful Relationships; acting with care, integrity, and fairness in all we do

What is Disability Equality and how does the Equality Act impact on schools?

Under the Equality Act there is a requirement for public sector bodies, including schools, to promote equality for disabled people in every aspect of their work. As a school, we take an organisational approach to formulating policy and practices, which positively promote disability.

The Equality Act 2010 introduced a single Public Sector Equality Duty (sometimes also referred to as the 'general duty') that applies to public bodies, including maintained schools and Academies, and which extends to all protected characteristics –age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, and sexual orientation.. This combined equality duty came into effect in April 2011. It has three main elements.

In carrying out their functions, public bodies are required to have due regard to the need to:

- Eliminate discrimination, harassment, victimisation and other conduct that is prohibited by the Equality Act 2010.
- Advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it.
- Foster good relations across all protected characteristics – between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it

Having due regard to the need to advance equality of opportunity is defined further in the Equality Act 2010 as having due regard to the need to:

- Remove or minimise disadvantages
- Take steps to meet different needs
- Encourage participation when it is disproportionately low.

This duty requires schools to adopt a proactive approach, mainstreaming disability equality into all decisions and activities. The duty does not just apply to disabled pupils; it applies to any non-educational services schools provide. The duty applies also to parents, members of staff, visitors to the school, local community members and to potential pupils of the future.

Schools can implement the general duty by actively reviewing all their policies, procedures and planned access improvements to remove barriers, with a view, for example, to greater recruitment and retention of disabled staff, greater participation of disabled pupils, disabled parents and community members.

What are the specific duties?

The specific duties require schools:

- To publish information to demonstrate how they are complying with the Public Sector Equality Duty
- To prepare and publish equality objectives, and (optional) an equality plan
- To prepare and publish an accessibility plan

Schools need to update their published information at least annually and to publish objectives at least once every four years. The River Learning Trust has produced supporting material for its schools to prepare an accessibility plan.

Leadership and Management in our Schools – a commitment to inclusion and equality

A clear ethos is set by the local governing bodies and the school management, which reflects the schools' commitment to equality for all members of the school communities. The schools' advance equalities of opportunity through positive and proactive approaches to valuing and respecting diversity.

Governors take all reasonable steps to ensure that the school environment gives access to people with disabilities, and also strive to make school communications as inclusive as possible for parents, carers and pupils.

The school management works in partnership with others to eliminate all forms of oppressive behaviour; prejudice related incidents and discrimination.

All members of the school community, including pupils, parents, community and staff are consulted and contribute to the development and review of relevant policy documents. The school ensures the involvement of governors and takes positive action to enable consultations and contribution of all.

The evaluations of plans and policies are used to set equality objectives and address equality issues. The development of teaching and the curriculum are monitored to ensure high expectations of all pupils and appropriate breadth of content in relation to the school, local, UK and global community.

The Local Governing Body and Headteacher will ensure that the school complies with all relevant equalities legislation and ensures that the policy, related procedures and strategies are implemented. The Headteacher will also ensure that all staff are aware of their responsibilities under the policy.

Equality Objectives

Schools are required to have Equality Objectives showing how they are planning strategically and the impact this has over time following the duties of the Equality Act 2010. These general duties are to:

- eliminate discrimination,
- advance equality of opportunity
- foster good relations

The school understands the principle of the act and the work needed to ensure that those with protected characteristics are not discriminated against and are given equality of opportunity. The Equality Act defines 'protected characteristics' as disability, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation, gender reassignment, and pregnancy and maternity. We also welcome our duty under the Education and Inspections Act 2006 to promote community cohesion.

We recognise that these duties reflect international human rights standards as expressed in the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, the UN Convention on the Rights of People with Disabilities, and the Human Rights Act 1998.

Equalities Statement

Introduction

Our School is committed to supporting and promoting equality, diversity and inclusion. We value and respect the different contributions that each of our staff, students, and stakeholders bring. We strive to create an inclusive culture that treats people equitably regardless of their: age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, and sexual orientation.

We will make special efforts to ensure that everyone prospers at our school, including:

- Boys and girls, men and women
- All minority ethnic groups including travellers, refugees and asylum seekers
- Pupils or families with different religions or beliefs
- Pupils and others with special educational needs
- Pupils and others with a range of disabilities
- Looked after children and their carers
- Children or staff who are gay, lesbian, bisexual or transgender
- Pupils or staff who are pregnant or have just given birth
- Pupils or staff who have recently suffered miscarriage or stillbirth
- Staff who are in menopause or peri-menopause
- Pupils or staff undergoing gender reassignment

What sort of school are we?

We are a rural school which is made up of predominantly white, British families. Our staff consists predominantly of female members; with just one male teacher. We have very few children who are entitled to Free School Meals (7%). There is very little mobility within the school and the majority of those children who live in the village attend the school. We have one child registered as EAL and 12 children from different ethnic groups. We have 12.6% of the school population registered as SEND for various needs.

Our key strengths are: (for example as identified in our Equaliteach report):

- Inclusivity

Our key areas for action are:

To make sure that all children are able to achieve their full potential no matter their background

To educate the children in the range of cultural diversity that is in the wider world

To use role models from a range of groups to promote EDI

To increase the diversity within the staff, where possible

The school has identified the following issues that may be barriers to effective learning and successful working at the school:

- Low self esteem and resilience in some children
- Low parental support or different parental expectations with families
- Lack of diversity and a range of cultures within the school and local community

School's Commitment to Equalities

We welcome our duties under the Equality Act 2010. The general duties are to:

- eliminate discrimination,
- advance equality of opportunity
- foster good relations

We understand the principle of the act and the work needed to ensure that those with protected characteristics are not discriminated against and are given equality of opportunity. We also welcome our duty under the Education and Inspections Act 2006 to promote community cohesion. We recognise that these duties reflect international human rights standards as expressed in the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, the UN Convention on the Rights of People with Disabilities, and the Human Rights Act 1998.

We recognise that Positive Action provisions in the Equality Act 2010 allow us to target measures that are designed to alleviate disadvantages experienced by, or to meet the particular needs of, pupils with particular protected characteristics. If we decide to use these we will ensure that it is a proportionate response to achieve the relevant aim.
